

Where Does One Dollar Go?

Every sale has a path. Before anyone can promise a share to a creator, a helper, or a cause, the money has to get through the gates first. This card shows the path in one line, then walks a real one-dollar sale through it.

$$N = P - F - T - D$$

Letter	Plain words
P	Payment — what the buyer actually paid.
F	Fees — what the card processor keeps.
T	Taxes — sales tax collected for the government. It was never ours.
D	Delivery cost — what it costs to hand the buyer the thing.
N	Net — the distributable amount. The only money anyone can share.

Walk one dollar through it

Step	Amount	Why
P	$1.00	The price of this card.
F	– $0.33	2.9% of $1.00 is $0.029, plus a flat $0.30 per card sale. Rounded: $0.33.
T	– $0.00	Depends on where you live. If tax was added, it goes to your state, not to us.
D	– $0.00	A file costs almost nothing to hand over once the library exists. Running the library is not free — that cost sits in O on the back.
N	$0.67	What is left to share.

The surprise: on a one-dollar sale, the flat 30 cents takes almost a third. That is why small prices are hard, and why nobody should promise “every dollar goes to...” without showing this line first.

Fee shown is the standard online card rate on the store’s current plan, as recorded on a real THYLORA order on 2026-09-16 ($1.99 sale, $0.36 fee). Rates can change; the equation does not.

Then the second line: who shares N

$$N = B + C + A + O + R$$

Letter	Who	Your % (write it in)
B	Beneficiary — the person the sale is meant to help	_____
C	Creator — whoever made the thing	_____
A	Approved partner — a named, agreed helper organization	_____
O	Operation — hosting, the library, the store, people's time	_____
R	Reserve — refunds, chargebacks, a bad month	_____
	Must add up to	100%

Four questions to ask about any “proceeds go to...” offer

1. What is P, and what are F, T and D? If nobody can say, N is a guess.
2. Who exactly is B — a named person or partner who agreed, or just a category?
3. Is the split written down before the sale, or decided after?
4. Where is the monthly report that shows it happened?

Try it on something you sell

P = _____ F = _____ T = _____ D = _____ N = _____
